

To Potential Web Video clients;

Do you need to tell the world your story, do you need to sell your product or give the service you provide the life of moving images?

If you do... we feel that the collaboration effort between Exposure Productions and South 40 Films can provide you with a web video that is tailored just for you and will attract that attention your business, your art or your non-project project needs to stand out above the rest.

Christine Funk, of South 40 Films, has worked as a producer in the Bay Area commercial/infomercial business for over 10 years teaching her many selling tools of the trade. She has also produced and directed several documentaries, one that was just accepted and screened at the Mill Valley Film Festival in the Bay Area about legendary bluegrass musician Peter Rowan.

Marc Snider, of Exposure Productions, has worked in the Durango area for over 13 years providing many businesses with videos to help sell their product, services and giving attention to non-profits projects. Among the many PSA's, short films and documentaries produced by Exposure Productions, a handful have won Regional Emmy awards and have been screened at local film festivals.

Please take a look at our new updated web video packaging rates and let us help you add that moving image dimension to your website. We look forward to filming and editing something special for you. We are based out of both Durango and Pagosa Springs.

Thank you for your time and interest.

Sincerely,

Christine Funk – Producer
